JAN-ROLF JANOWSKI

Chargé d'Affaires a.i.

Embassy of the Federal Republic of Germany

As we approach the end of the year, I am pleased to share some notable accomplishments reflecting the robust trade relationship between Germany and Bangladesh.

There are more than 70 German companies present in Bangladesh as of now. Most of the globally recognized German companies are operating in Bangladesh by setting up either a liaison or branch office.

In the last few years, bilateral trade has witnessed significant growth to a level of more than 10 billion USD in exchanges, reflecting the commitment of both nations to fostering economic collaboration. While this year headwinds are strongly blowing into our face due to internal and external challenges such as the illegal aggression of Russia against Ukraine, I am convinced that in 2024 our relations will emerge even stronger. There are several reasons to support my belief:

1. Increased interest from Germany – More and more German companies are showing interest to be present in Bangladesh in one form or another. This is due to the rising consumer market in Bangladesh and the fruition of several infrastructure projects that make Bangladesh a more attractive destination for future business. It is also due to companies branching out from neighboring successful markets or slowly exiting other markets and looking for attractive alternatives. For all of this a stable, democratic environment in Bangladesh remains the key, creating trust in rule of law and investment climate.

2. Diversification of Exports: The trade landscape has evolved with notable initiatives towards a diversification of exports. Bangladesh has successfully broadened its range of export products to Germany, enhancing market competitiveness and sustainability. At the same time, German companies are broadening their product range to appeal to local consumers.

3. Investment Initiatives: Both nations have actively engaged in fostering investment initiatives, creating a conducive environment for business development. Flagship German investments in Bangladesh and - even more remarkable also vice versa - have contributed to job creation and economic development.

4. Technology Transfer and Innovation: Collaborative efforts in technology transfer and innovation have strengthened ties between German and Bangladeshi industries. This exchange has promoted mutual learning and advancements in various sectors.

5. Sustainable Trade Practices: Germany and Bangladesh have demonstrated a shared commitment to sustainable trade practices. Initiatives promoting environmentally friendly business operations and ethical supply chains have gained momentum, aligning with global sustainability goals.

6. Embassy's Economic Initiatives: Our Embassy has facilitated several high-level bilateral visits, fostering direct dialogue between key stakeholders and promoting business collaborations. These visits have resulted in new partnerships and agreements, contributing to the overall economic development of both nations.

7. BGCCI Initiatives: The Embassy actively engaged in various events organized by the Bangladesh-German Chamber of Commerce and Industry (BGCCI), reinforcing our commitment to the business community. BGCCI's Business Networking Event this year (June 2023) garnered significant attention, showcasing the strength and potential of DEU-BGD economic collaboration. We continue to support the reform path of the chamber and are confident that - if intensified - it might lead to greater recognition by the official trade promotion agencies of Germany in the future.

Bangladesh is currently recognized as one of the fastest-growing economies in the world and is set to graduate from the list of LDCs in the coming years. But as Bangladesh graduates from the LDC status, compliance with the human and workers' rights covenants will be of increasing importance to maintain the preferential access to EU markets through the current Everything But Arms (EBA) or future Generalised Scheme of Preferences-Plus (GSP+), that is key for the RMG sector and thus for the Bangladeshi economy as of now.

With a growing young population and a government roadmap to transform Bangladesh into a developed nation by 2041, the opportunities are enormous - if existing challenges are tackled with the necessary political will and technical expertise.

Germany will remain a trusted partner for the Government of Bangladesh and Bangladeshi companies and institutions to make progress on this path. We look forward to further building on existing accomplishments and exploring new avenues for cooperation.

Ambassador of Bangladesh in Germany

I am pleased to learn that BGCCI is publishing its Members' Directory 2024. As the Ambassador of Bangladesh to Germany, I convey my best wishes and greetings to all the members of BGCCI.

Germany is the second largest export market for Bangladesh after the USA. Our two countries' bilateral trade volume (approximately US$ 8 billion in FY 2022-2023) has been growing steadily. This is particularly encouraged by EU tariff preferences granted under the 'Everything but Arms' arrangement. RMG and textile constitute 94 % of our exports to Germany. Other export items are seafood, leather products, bicycles, plastic products, jute & jute goods etc. On the other hand, Bangladesh imports machines and spare parts, automobiles, chemical products and electrical goods from Germany.

The Bangladesh-German Chamber of Commerce & Industry (BGCCI) is a trusted name among the German and Bangladeshi businesses. Since inception, BGCCI has been working as a catalyst for accelerating investment and trade for both countries. BGCCI as an independent, member driven bilateral trade organization, works with its vast network at home and abroad.

I trust that BGCCI will continue to support business and investors from both sides and play an active role in enhancing bilateral trade & investment.

I wish the publication all the success.
